From Grade 4, with love

As Valentine's Day approached, the Grade 4 students at Elk Point Elementary School got into the spirit of giving. Students brought in items such as hand lotions, hand sanitizers, pencils, picture frames, tea, Lifesavers, etc. to fill bags they had beautifully decorated for patients at the hospital. This project was successful because of the generous donations and support from the Grade 4 parents.

Petitioners ask for recreation opportunities

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The 319 people who signed a petition asking for recreational opportunities for Elk Point's children were willing to put their ideas where their pens were. The petition, presented by Leanne Gilbert to Elk Point town council at their Feb. 11 meeting, offered a whole column of suggestions ranging from a water park to bike trails.

Gilbert collected the signatures in only five days and told council, "I'm sure I could get more signatures." She said she realizes that money is a factor, but she sees a need for something for youngsters to do, because "not everyone skates or plays hockey." Area residents' response to the petition shows "there is definitely an interest."

"What you did is great," Mayor Parrish Tung told Gilbert. "We have a new economic development committee that is looking for volunteers, and part of economic development is lifestyles." He said the council looks at return on investment when considering recreational development, and have to take into consideration that although grants are available, most have to be matched.

The mayor noted that in her previous term on council, Coun. Bernice Capjack had hoped for a water park, and had determined that the price would be between $150,000 and $200,000. The bike trail, however, is a definite possibility, he said. "We have been talking about it."

"The demographics of the town are changing," Mayor Tung said when council discussed the petition again later in the meeting. "It's part of the trend that there is a demand for the kids to have someplace for recreation."

The mayor said he had thought of "hiring a respected person to organize activities. We are lacking in that regard." He urged the councillors to think of ways, by the next meeting, to use existing facilities in ways that are cost effective. "We have to brainstorm."

Danyluk opens Elk Point campaign office

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

Provincial election PC Alberta candidate Ray Danyluk opened his Elk Point campaign office last Thursday with the help of a capacity crowd of supporters.

Pointing at a poster of party leader Ed Stelmach, Danyluk said, "it's all about this guy. He has really changed the face of Alberta politics. He's always positive and he truly cares for Albertans."

After appointing Danyluk as Minister of Housing and Municipal Affairs, Stelmach "told me, 'make sure you do what's right for Albertans,'" Danyluk said.

Danyluk said he would have been "apprehensive" about some of the moves Stelmach made as premier. For instance, Danyluk pointed to the unfunded liability for teachers, where "no one was willing to step forward. He didn't follow all the recommendations."

Danyluk says one of Stelmach's challenges has been in agriculture. "The solutions weren't really there. He is committed to finding sustainability, with the help of agricultural producers.

Stelmach has "listened to the people," Danyluk said. "He has made a plan and executed it. I've never seen a plan like his."

One facet of Stelmach's plan was the Municipal Sustainability Initiative, aimed at assisting municipalities over a 10-year span. "It's his one thing," Danyluk said. "Don't forget small rural communities. It's good to have that latitude." MSI will give Elk Point $6 million and the County of St. Paul $27 million "without taking (the money) away from anything else."

Danyluk thanked his supporters for the opportunity to represent the area, and for their willingness to be involved once again.

"Campaign manager Don Schultz said the Elk Point campaign office will be open Monday through Friday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Cathy Ockerman and Sherry Young will be on hand to coordinate volunteers wishing to help with the campaign.

Mayor questions need for traffic study

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

The need for the traffic impact study of Highway 41 north planned for late February or early March was questioned by Mayor Parrish Tung at the Feb. 11 council meeting.

The study was agreed upon at an earlier meeting as a preliminary step to the expansion of Elk Point's industrial park across 57 Ave., and Mayor Tung said it "would make sense to build a service road (parallel to Highway 41) whether we do a study or not. It would be a must in the long term."

Deputy Mayor Dwayne Yaremkevich noted that the traffic count that is part of the survey "would be good to entice business" to locate in the industrial park.

Mayor Tung agreed, and noted the information should be included in the town's website.

The traffic count is "only a small part of the study," town manager Myron Goyan noted.

Infrastructure study

The town's infrastructure will also be the subject of a study, needed to update the last report made in 1999. Information from the $33,000 study is needed when submitting grant applications, Goyan said.

Council also agreed to go ahead with the design work for the initial phase of the new industrial park to be located east of Highway 41 between 57 and 60 Avenues. A manufacturing plant has expressed interest in locating in that area, and Goyan was asked to talk to the engineering firm about servicing costs.

Entrance signs

New welcome signage at the north and south entrances to Elk Point should be in place by Canada Day. Coun.

Yaremkevich and Coun. Mark Gormley were delegated to look into the project and will ask Bob Bezpalko to give input. It was also suggested that lighting be installed so the signs are visible at night.

Operating grant

Assistance available through the joint county and town operating grant for community organizations needing financial assistance could be going up. Council moved to double their contribution from $12,500 to $25,000 if the County of St. Paul agrees to do the same.

Bylaw defeated

A bylaw amending the land use bylaw to change a parcel of commercial property to R3 residential was defeated on its first reading. This is the second time the landowner has applied for rezoning of the property.

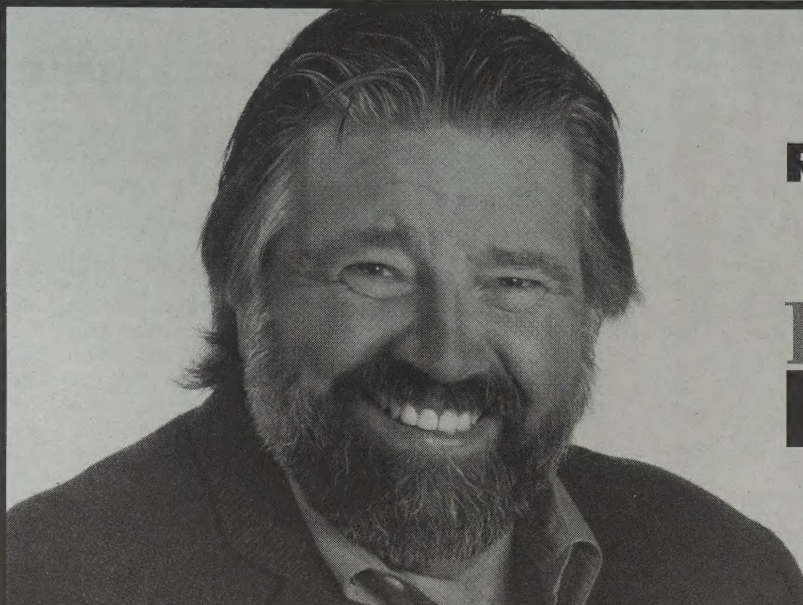

The first reading was passed on a second bylaw, allowing for the closure of an undeveloped lane adjacent to property owned by Murray Cochrane. Approval of sale of the lane property to Cochrane was approved at the last meeting.

Allied Arts

Council approved the final document regarding the Allied Arts bare land condominium. Utilities at the Allied Arts Centre were also under discussion. The town has already agreed to install an additional water meter. Addition of a second sewer line is proving to be a problem because of the depth at which the line is located. Winalta

Coun. Dick Millar and Goyan met with representatives of Winalta Homes, and Millar said it was "a very positive meeting." The engineering design work will be completed shortly on the property Winalta has obtained from the town, and Winalta would like to attend a future open house to display their plans for the area.

Cancelled library fees concern County council

By MALLORY HOULE
Staff Writer

At their regular council meeting on Feb. 12, County of St. Paul council discussed the elimination of membership fees at the Elk Point Public Library, as proposed by the library board.

Coun. Maxine Fodness expressed concern about the plan, stating, "We have an agreement with Elk Point and the St. Paul Municipal Library where we pay each of them $6,000 per year. St. Paul charges membership fees. If we vote in favour of eliminating fees at Elk Point, it is possible that St. Paul will look at the same thing."

Coun. Glen Ockerman was appreciative of the proposed change. "I think it's a good thing. It frees up access for people who can't afford a computer."

Council carried a motion to eliminate membership fees, agreeing to contribute $1,000 to the Elk Point facility to cover the shortfall.

Kehewin Lake provincial recreation area

The area manager with the Northeast Management area met with county officials to discuss the future of the Kehewin Lake campsite. The site spans approximately 10 acres along the lake and houses between six to eight developed lots.

Northeast Management

proposed that the county take over the park. Site deregulation would require an order in council. Essentially, the county would purchase the site for a dollar and sell it back to the province for an equal amount if officials decided to discontinue operating it. Following a brief discussion, where multiple concerns regarding policing and a lack in opportunity for expansion were addressed, council decided to notify Northeast Management to seek out alternatives for the site.

"It's going to take a fair amount of policing and there's no opportunity for expansion. Really, it's just a sliver of land," said Ockerman.

Elk Point Elks Lodge

Members of the Elks thanked county for donating firewood to their park and requested that the county make a further contribution of kindling this year. County opted to support the request.

Sponsorship Request-Elk Point Minor Hockey

From March 14 to 15, a Pee wee D tournament will be held in Elk Point. Council members passed a motion to sponsor the event.

CAP 25th Anniversary

On April 5, community residents will have the opportunity to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the CAP Arena in St. Paul. Thus far, county has decided to purchase a table seating eight individuals with an attached price tag of $200.

St. Paul

transfer station

Council appointed Coun. Cliff Martin, CAO Kim Heyman, and Reeve Robert Bouchard to the St. Paul transfer station committee. The group held a meeting last Thursday to discuss the Ward 4 transfer station.

Riverland Adventure Challenge

The organizing committee for the Riverland Adventure Challenge requested that the county provide vide insurance should an incident occurs during the event. The request was tabled until next month's county meeting until the terms can be discussed with an insurance company.

Machinery and equipment services

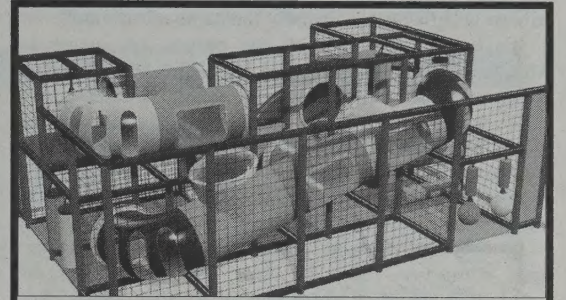

For the past several years, the county has conducted its own machinery and equipment assessment. However, Heyman told council that assessment practices were becoming "a real weight," adding that, "For several months each year, the whole back end of our office slows down."

Council expressed interest in contracting the services out and two companies, IMAC and Accurate Assessment, submitted quotes. Following discussions, council passed a motion to grant the contract to IMAC for three years with the first year being probationary. The change will be implemented in 2009.

Firefighters curling championship

Terry Senecal of the St. Paul Fire Department asked council to consider sponsoring a team of firefighters for the upcoming curling championships to be held in Airdrie Feb. 20 to 24. Council passed a motion to support each department in the St. Paul County by donating $200 towards registration fees for the event.

A new agency is powering utilities regulation in Alberta

On January 1, 2008, the Alberta Utilities Commission (AUC) became the cornerstone of Alberta's regulatory framework for an expanding utilities sector.

The AUC emerged from the realignment of the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board, and appears at a time when Alberta's infrastructure needs grow in step with the province's fast-paced economy.

The AUC is an independent and quasi-judicial agency that oversees the activities of regulated companies involved in Alberta's utility industries. An expanded mandate allows the AUC to deal with issues such as the development of competitive markets and growing complexity of siting facilities.

We assure Albertans that the AUC will conduct business in an open and fair manner and with the highest ethical standards. We encourage public participation and promise to balance the views of consumers, utility companies, and all other stakeholders.

To learn more about the AUC visit our Web site at www.auc.ab.ca.

Carbon-copy campaigns

Is it our imagination, or are many of the campaign promises being made by the parties vying for seats in Alberta's legislature, virtually the same all around?

It's no surprise that all the parties are aware of Albertans' major concerns, such as affordable housing, energy royalties, agriculture and health care. These are issues which should matter to each and every one of us. We as voters are right to expect the people we elect to work on solutions to problems in those areas. The surprise is that many of the promises we hear are a whole lot the same, whatever party they come from.

With issues, and in surprisingly many cases, solutions, being very much the same, the choices we make could all come down to the candidates themselves. And that makes sense. It doesn't matter what is promised, if that candidate doesn't have the drive and determination to work toward fulfilling it.

All the parties seem to be shying away from telling us what the price tag is on what they are promising. We need to know what these things are going to cost, and even more important, what it's going to cost each of us in tax dollars. The cost to build and operate everything from hospitals to housing to schools is there and it isn't going to go away. The money has to come from somewhere, and whatever party is in power, it is inevitable that some of that money will come from us.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Volunteers praised, circulation raised

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF FEB. 19 IN...

1988

Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski came to town to present Celebration '88 awards to athletes Victor Stepa and Holly Burton, volunteers Pat Johnson and Jim Forrest, sports sponsor Canadian Salt representative Ken Palamarek and sports official Pat Vincent, with 27 more athletes, coaches, volunteers and sponsors receiving certificates recognizing their efforts. Tiny torch-bearer Calen MacLellan officially opened the Elk Point Elementary Olympics.

1993

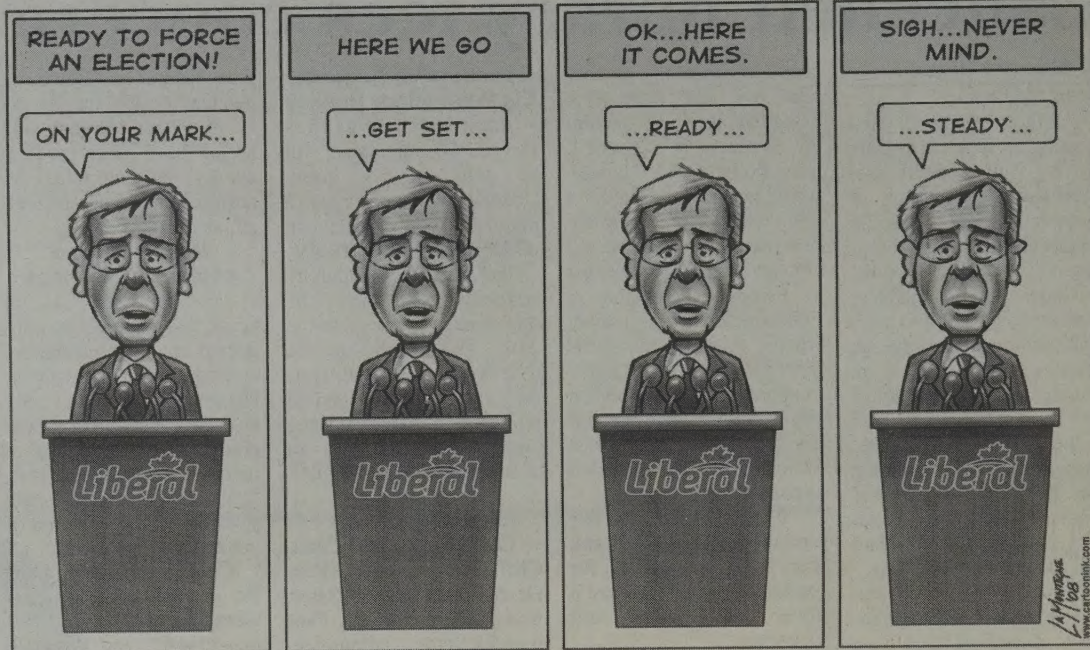

A thousand hours of volunteering by those who assisted directly with the operation of Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre and by the Friends of the Forts were celebrated at the second annual Fur Trappers' Ball, which feasted a traditional feast and Red River jigging to lively fiddle tunes. Town council got a nasty shock when a government engineer told them the cost estimate for extension of the Elk Point Airport runway would be more than double the original estimate.

1998

Library statistics showed that reading is finally on a rebound, with memberships up 7.6 per cent and circulation up four per cent, librarian Michele Ducek reported at the library's annual meeting. Town council set the date for a by-election, following the resignation of councillor Dave Yake, which left two empty seats, Louis Verhagen having resigned at an earlier date.

2003

Elk Point Public Library had a substantial 25 per cent increase in circulation during 2002, although patron numbers showed almost no change, librarian Daphne Schnurer reported at the annual meeting. Town council postponed their decision on purchase of a new fire truck in order to further consider financing details.

Alberta Family Day

Today, for some of you and most of you who are students, is your first day back to work or classes after Alberta Family Day. Have you wondered why Alberta celebrates Family Day?

Actually, Alberta Family Day is a day that celebrates families and family values that originated with the early pioneers who first came to Alberta, and who survived with the family as the centre of their lives.

Family Day was introduced by Premier Don Getty in 1989 and has become officially recognized by the Legislative Assembly of Alberta as a public holiday celebrated on the third Monday of February. The Act states: "in recognition of the importance of the family, the third Monday in February in each year shall be observed as a public holiday and known as 'Alberta Family Day.'"

When you look at how pioneers built the province, many issues had to be worked through before 1989 when the first Alberta Family Day took place. Some facts on the 103 years of family life in Alberta are:

- Newcomers to Alberta in the 1900s sometimes had to live in tents. In June 1907, about 2,000 were camped along Edmonton's riverbank.

- In 1905, a Calgary Herald advertisement included a dozen eggs or a pound of butter for a quarter.

- Cooperatives of farmers, called 'beef rings,' were used until the 1950s to distribute fresh meat in areas without power or freezers.

EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

- Men's pants from Calgary's Quality Clothing Company cost from $2 to $7.50 in 1905.

- Alberta Government Telephones was established in 1906. Alberta was the first province to convert party lines to individual service, starting in 1986.

- The Lord's Day Act of 1907 prohibited 'trade' or working on Sunday. The act was repealed in 1982, making Sunday shopping legal.

- Public transportation in Calgary in 1907 included buses with solid rubber tires that could transport 20 passengers at 18 miles per hour.

- Alberta's Prohibition lasted from 1916 to 1924. Many Albertans felt abstinence from alcohol would save their homes and families from moral decay.

- The Spanish Influenza killed one in 10 of the people infected in 1918. Albertans wore surgical face masks in public to protect themselves.

- In the 1920s only three per cent of married women worked outside the home in professions such as teaching, nursing and domestic service.

- Many clergymen and Alberta residents in the 1920s and 1930s condemned dancing. In Edmonton, city council was petitioned to close dance halls.

- The Family Day Act was introduced in 1989 by Premier Don Getty to recognize and preserve the values of home and family on which pioneers built the province.

When one looks at some of the facts about the living conditions in the history of Alberta, and the changes that were made, it becomes easy to understand why we need to stop in our much faster pace of life today and take time to spend with our families. Families are the heart of what makes Alberta what it is today.

Belated gratitude to Elk Point Minor Hockey coaches from 1975 to 1987

To the Editor:

To the following gentlemen, in no particular order, as memory permits: Victor Stepa, Art Lypka, Lloyd Metz, Jim Hawkins, Stan Bates, Ron Lesyk, Mike Metz, Henry Roscoe, Gordon Fakeley, Milton Lorensen, Ed Poulin, Gerald Poitras, Ron Onusko, Ray Hellquist, Wally Rath, Jim Vinge Sr., Larry Demchuk, Moe Oester and Don Woytkiw, skate sharpener extraordinaire, and to anyone I have missed, that 30 years is unable to recall (had to look at old pictures).

Since I have become involved with my own children with Thorsby Minor Hockey, it brings back a lot of memories and also the realization of the effort and commitment this mentioned group of people had in my minor hockey years. I don't recall thanking you for your time, so please accept this belated thanks.

I did not realize what went into a season of hockey, and of course no kid involved really should... they just need to show up, work hard and have fun. Special thanks to the guys that did not have their own kids in hockey at the times they were coaching. Minor hockey anywhere can use a lot more people like you!

Again, to all you gentlemen, thank you!

Christian Community to host World Day of Prayer

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Once again this year, five of Elk Point's churches will combine their resources for World Day of Prayer, Friday, March 7. The Ukrainian Orthodox, United, Roman Catholic and Ukrainian Catholic congregations will join that of the host Elk Point Christian Community Church for the 7 p.m. service.

This year's event has the theme, "God's wisdom provides new understanding," and the service has been written by the women of Guyana.

The Cooperative Republic of Guyana is located on the northern coast of South America and is the only English-speaking country on that continent. "Guyana," an Amerindian word which means "land of Many Waters," is home to the highest single-drop waterfall in the world, Kaieteur Falls, nearly five times as high as Niagara Falls.

Poverty is one of the country's major issues and affects a significant part of the country's population.

Devastating floods in 2005 and 2006 swept through numerous coastal communities, and decreases in population have resulted from a steady migration to other countries since the 1960s.

A steady increase in the proportion of Guyanese women infected by HIV/AIDS is strongly linked to domestic violence, which remains at an alarming level, and trafficking in persons has also been linked to the issue. Guyana's government, churches, faith-based communities, civic and non-governmental organizations are working toward improved social conditions.

The World Day of Prayer service will offer an opportunity to learn more about Guyana, its culture and heritage. Christians in more than 170 countries around the world and more than 2,000 communities across Canada will gather that day to pray and act in solidarity with the people of Guyana.

For more information about the Elk Point service, call Ruth Vogel at 724-4039.

World Day of Prayer is a worldwide movement of Christian women of many traditions who come together the first Friday of March to observe a common day of prayer each year. Through World Day of Prayer, women affirm their faith in Jesus Christ and become aware of the whole world, are enriched by the faith experiences of Christians in other countries and cultures, share the burdens of other people and pray with them and for them, become aware of their own talents and use them in the service of God's word. Prayer and action are inseparable and both have immeasurable influence in the world.

In Canada, the World Day of Prayer is coordinated by the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada.

Town council notes

More FCSS funding

An ongoing supplemental grant for FCSS in the amount of $5,178 has been announced. This year's grant does not have to be matched, while in future years; the town will need to match with a 20 per cent contribution. Mayor Tung thinks, "this is a good move," since funding has been cut in the past. Council agreed to apply for the grant.

Canada Day

Council moved to authorize Deanna Easthope to apply for a Canada Day celebrations grant from the federal government.

Hockey Provincials

Mayor Tung has agreed to take part in the opening ceremonies for the Pee wee 'D' hockey provincials tournament on March 14. He also noted that the hosting grant is available, and council passed a motion authorizing release of a $1,000 hosting grant to Elk Point Minor Hockey to help cover tournament costs.

Seniors Week

Seniors Week is still several months away, but town council is already planning to honour Elk Point's eldest citizens. They moved to host a pancake breakfast June 1 to kick off the week, and are also researching other ways to become involved in the week.

EDC positions

Elk Point's new Economic Development Council is ready to go and will be advertising for interested individuals to become part of the council. Mayor Tung said the EDC "has the ability to improve the lifestyle and therefore attract business."

No smoke

Correspondence from Alberta Health and Wellness regarding the Tobacco Reduction Act reminded council that smoking in town facilities, including the public works shop and the fire hall, is now prohibited by law and subject to large fines.
